Wellness Within Your Walls® Announces Ambassador Program

Wellness Within Your Walls introduces their Ambassador Program as part of the solution to achieving healthier interior environments.

Atlanta GA, January 20, 2015 — Wellness Within Your Walls announces the launch of its Ambassador Program—a plan to choose 50 ambassadors representing all 50 states, with additional representatives globally. Ambassadors will be carefully selected from the retail, design and building communities and will partner with WWYW to spread the word on the health benefits of reducing toxins in interiors.

The selected ambassadors will be the first professionals to earn the WWYW designation, and will help organize education seminars and teach the complete WWYW four-part health and safety CEU courses in their region. In addition, they have the opportunity to impact WWYW materials. Ambassadors will be recognized and promoted as the face of WWYW in their location and community.

WWYW announces the following charter Ambassadors:

- Lifestyle boutique Sotre and owner/interior designer Grace Kaynor, 3933 Magazine Street, New Orleans.
- Kathy Browning, Owner/Principal Designer, Design Consultants, Virginia Beach

“We’re thrilled to welcome these partners to the WWYW family, and to work with companies and individuals who share the common goal of achieving healthier interior environments globally,” says Nonnie Preuss of WWYW. “They play an absolutely crucial role in helping us to teach the importance of learning about toxins and making wise choices. Our partnership with these as well as future ambassadors will lead to healthier lives and healthier businesses.”

Wellness Within Your Walls is an informational resource group created to provide education and guidance harmful chemicals commonly found in living and working spaces. The goal is to empower and guide consumers, builders, manufacturers, and the design community toward healthier interior spaces.
